By API have been looking for a recording of PHC's final '87 show for years, writing even the show's website, no to avail. I was recently out of college when this show aired on the radio (back in '87), and I remember listening, spellbound, to part of it in my car, and then rushing home to record the rest on a cheap little cassette recorder! I listened and listened to that final broadcast until the cassette tape broke, and, through the years, recalled favorite snatches of the music and narrative. Hearing it again as I drove home from the city today swept me back to loved ones, places, much more innocent times, and reminded me of how much I love this show, and how meaningful it has been in my life. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. This is the last show before Garrison Keillor moved to ... By Rob S. This is the last show before Garrison Keillor moved to Scandinavia. Ultimately, he returned and revived A PHC, but this CD is still worth having. Leo Kottke and Chet Atkins perform a duet, and other memorable moments and stories. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Thank you, Garrison Keillor By Sherry Lady I love everything Garrison Keillor does. His stories have made such a difference in my life, especially as I walk through a huge family health challenge. I have written him a letter and sent it several places but not sure it ever reached him. I wanted him to know that his stories have brought many smiles and light into my days during this difficult period and I am grateful.

Here's the last weekly live broadcast that started it all-the glorious tradition of saying goodbye. The final performance (June 13, 1987) brought Garrison Keillor and guests together for sweet music, sparkling wit, and the latest "News from Lake Wobegon."
