Drew Struzan is a true master at what he does. Unlike many other movie poster artists, Drew paints each of his works by hand and has an amazing ability to capture the likeness of his subjects and preserve them in such an epic fashion. What a delight to discover that none of his posters were ever created by means of photo-manipulation!There are several pages at the beginning with fun and interesting background history on his career, but the rest of the book is a fabulous gallery of his poster paintings. Each page has full color glossy prints of his movie posters, and many of them in their original form before text, titles, and bylines were added. I had a lot of fun turning each page to find yet another gorgeous movie poster from a favorite film. Aside from the "GREATS" that are instantly recognizable as Drew's work (Star Wars, Indiana Jones, E.T., Back to the Future, Harry Potter ...), I was pleased to discover that many other favorite movies that I've loved throughout my life were also illustrated by Drew, such as Police Academy, Muppets movies, Mallrats, Ladyhawk, Adventures in Babysitting, Goonies ... the list goes on. Buy this book, it's wonderful! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Morten Maansson Wonderful! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. for the true Drew fan By Joe Phillips Breathtaking. It's great to get an inside look at his thought process and insider notes on the studio's comments. It's sad he has retired from doing movie posters and now all we have is crapy photoshoped art by comity. great book must have for any fan of art, movies, Hollywood or Drew. Awesome.

Drew Struzan's talent for capturing what is both human and heroic in the face of a movie character has made him the top Hollywood film campaign artist for the past 30 years. Struzan, the last of the great poster artists, according to The Boston Globe, has created the images for some of the biggest and most successful box office hits in cinematic history, including Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom, Back to the Future, the complete Star Wars series, E.T., Blade Runner, Rambo, Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone, and Hook. This compilation of his cinematic art, accompanied by text explaining his particular vision of each character, features a foreword by the director George Lucas.

About the Author Drew Struzan has achieved a truly unprecedented place in the 100-year history of motion picture advertising with over twenty-five years of experience and literally hundreds of movie posters to his credit. After graduating with Great Distinction from the prestigious Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, California, Struzan created award-winning graphics for record album covers at Pacific Eye Ear, a Los Angeles based design boutique. But it was his partnership in a Los Angeles film design studio Pencil Pushers, Inc., that launched his career. Beginning with the cult classic Killer Force, Empire of the Ants, and Food of the Gods, Struzan quickly became sought after for A list movies; including Star Wars, E.T., Raiders of the Lost Ark, and the Indiana Jones Trilogy.
