

[Pdf free] The Philosophy of Film: Introductory Text and Readings

The Philosophy of Film: Introductory Text and Readings

From Brand: Wiley-Blackwell
*ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook

The Philosophy of Film Introductory Text and Readings

Edited by Thomas E. Wartenberg and Angela Curran

 Download

 Read Online

#963928 in Books Wiley-Blackwell 2005-02-11 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.70 x .70 x 6.70l, 1.26
#File Name: 1405114428322 pages | File size: 58.Mb

From Brand: Wiley-Blackwell : The Philosophy of Film: Introductory Text and Readings before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Philosophy of Film: Introductory Text and Readings:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Gary R.Great price0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Lisa M. MartinezGreat shape5 of 24 people found the following review helpful. The worst book ever writtenBy History guyI bought this book for a philosophy and film course and I have never been the same. I have read thousands of books, and this one has stood out as by far the worst book ever written. The concepts addressed in the book are easy enough to understand, but the structure of the writing is nearly indecipherable.

Furthermore, I bought the book used. The annotations of the previous owners mimic my own sentiments verbatim. You almost have to be high to understand this horribly written block of paper (I cannot even call it a book). This book has the power to traumatize anyone who has a fondness for well written books.

Organized around a series of philosophic questions about film, The Philosophy of Film: Introductory Text and Readings offers an accessible and engaging overview of the discipline. Provides thorough selection of readings drawn from philosophy, film studies, and film criticism. Multiple points of view highlighted in discussion of film theory, narration, authorship, film and emotion, and the social values of cinema. Presents thought-provoking reading questions as well as clear and helpful introductions for each section. More information about this text along with further resources are available from the accompanying website at: <http://www.mtholyoke.edu/omc/phil-film/index.html>

Congratulations to Wartenberg and Curran for their terrific anthology. Uniting key works in film theory, criticism, and philosophy, this much-needed text has excellent sections on core topics. Deborah Knight, Queens University at Kingston. The Philosophy of Film presents a judicious selection of influential writings on the philosophy of film from across the spectrum of current opinion, though weighted toward the increasingly dominant cognitivist paradigm of film experience. The introductory and pedagogic material provided by the editors is uniformly helpful. Jerrold Levinson, University of Maryland, and Past President, American Society for Aesthetics. Bringing together important writings by prominent philosophers and film theorists, this volume of readings with useful editorial commentary will prove a valuable resource for students of the philosophy of film. Berys Gaut, University of St Andrews. From the Back Cover. The Philosophy of Film draws readings from philosophy, film studies, and film criticism. Organized around a series of philosophical questions about film, it offers an accessible and engaging overview of the discipline. Readings from contrasting angles and points of view discuss the value of film theory, the nature of film narration, the debate on whether films can be socially critical, and the question of what we can learn from film. Offering clear and helpful section introductions and thought-provoking reading questions, this book is the ideal primary textbook for undergraduate courses on the philosophy of film or philosophically oriented courses in film theory. More information about this text along with further resources are available from the accompanying website at: <http://www.mtholyoke.edu/omc/phil-film/index.html>. About the Author. Thomas E. Wartenberg is Professor of Philosophy at Mount Holyoke College, researching the intersection between philosophy and culture. A former Fulbright Research Fellow and a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellow, he is the author of Unlikely Couples: Movie Romance as Social Criticism (1999). His other publications include The Nature of Art (ed., 2002) and Philosophy and Film (co-ed., 1995). Angela Curran teaches philosophy at Franklin and Marshall College in Pennsylvania. Her primary areas of research are ancient Greek philosophy, aesthetics, and philosophy of film. Her work in philosophy of film includes an essay on tragedy and film horror for Dark Thoughts: Philosophical Reflections on Cinematic Horror (2003).