Barbara Soloff Levy : The Ultimate Dot-to-Dot Book (Dover Children's Activity Books) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Ultimate Dot-to-Dot Book (Dover Children's Activity Books):

However, most of the puzzles require you to stop at one number and restart at the next (ie "connect 1-97, then 98-102"). That's not age-appropriate for the pictures. I recommend the Greatest Dot-to-Dot instead, which is great at any age. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Helps dementia patient to keep mentally engaged! By Deborah L. Miller My mother is in early stages of dementia and I have been trying to find various activities such as word searches, puzzles, connect the dots, etc. to help in keeping her mentally engaged. This book has been ideal for her as it is not too easy but is not too intricate and complicated for her. She really likes it and has done most of the pictures...guess I better find her another book!12 of 12 people found the following review helpful. NiceBy Freemind.ArcataTeachers: about 3rd or 4th grade level dot to dot; I use it for math warmup in an SDC classroom.

Connect-the-dots puzzles aren't just for kids anymore. These 45 complex and artistically appealing conundrums are fun to do and a pleasure to behold when completed. You'll find yourself guessing what the picture will be when you start and then be totally amazed when you're finished. Designed for gamers of all ages, the full-page brainteasers combine letters of the alphabet with numbers that go well over 100. They also invite puzzle fans to complete and color an entertaining array of pictures from illustrations of animals, buildings, and vehicles to portrayals of humans, sea life and varieties of food.

About the AuthorBarbara Soloff Levy has created over two dozen "How to Draw" guides for Dover, plus many other activity books. Since retiring from her job as an elementary school art teacher, she devotes much of her time thinking up new ideas for this popular series.
