Although the next book (Beyer on Speed) in his trilogy acknowledges there have been changes in horse racing and handicapping since this was written, the tips in this book are still an invaluable guide at the track. Very readable and enjoyable.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The Winning HorseplayerBy Gary WileyI like to handicap the horses using systems along with some basic handicapping methods. I found Beyers' figures for speed handicapping an addition to my repetroire but the rest of the book was over my head as I'm not that deep into the handicapping game as of yet.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good BookBy perry tunksDespite it age, it is one best horse racing books out there. It is probably Beyer's best book since his first one.

The Winning Horseplayer, together with Beyer on Speed and Picking Winners, completes Andrew Beyer's triple crown. This advanced guide to handicapping is liberally spiced with the wit and wisdom that have made Beyer a legend in the sport.

"This exuberant memoir will delight the hearts, improve the minds, and fatten the bankrolls of horseplayers everywhere." Tom Ainslie "Andy Beyer goes to the races for all of us. Reading his book is like winning the exacta." - Jim Murray, Los Angeles Times "My $50000 Year at the races is an entertaining odyssey through the land of the handicapper. Andrew Beyers approach to the arcane art of selecting winners makes for fascinating reading. His expertise is obvious, even to the layman, but he does not conceal the central thrust of the book- how to pick a winner- behind a faade of technical verbiage, This is good reading, start to finish." Joe Hirsch "Horseplayers should forget todays daily double, exacta, and triple- and put their money on this sure winner." Bill Surface, author of The TrackAbout the Author:ANDREW BEYER thoroughly revolutionized handicapping when he createdhis "Beyer Speed Figures," a measure of how fast a horse has run in a givenrace, and an indispensable tool for horseplayers. Making the necessarycalculations to develop a set of figures for each horse in each race was tootime-consuming for most horseplayers, so in 1992 the Daily Racing Formcommissioned Beyer and his associates to provide his speed figures forevery horse competing in North America. Beyer has been a columnist for the Washington Post since 1978, and contributes regularly to the Daily Racing Form. He is considered one of the leading experts on horse racing.
