As a professional orchestral musician and active in an evangelical church, I find his descriptions hilariously accurate. I'm glad to finally have my own copy of Young Lutheran's Guide. If you like this you'll also enjoy his CD titled "Church People." 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Young Lutheran's Guide to the Orchestra

By Joyce Haldeman I enjoyed listening to this for the 4th or 5th time. I purchased it so I would have a copy of my own. It is delicately but thoroughly expressive of the internal situations going on within the orchestra while the listener hears the performance as a whole. If one wonders that hearing it repeatedly will destroy its affects, I must say it always draws you in.

By Monica Gramling This is a great, funny CD. Garrison Keillor does a fantastic job personalizing the orchestra. My family of musicians loves this.

If there is a musician in your family or if your child is taking up music, The Young Lutheran's Guide To The Orchestra is a wonderful 25 minute introduction to the orchestra and a wonderful teaching tool in terms of what the various instruments sound like. Keillor's premise is that each instrument in the orchestra requires a musician of a certain personality to play it and it is while describing the instrument and the kind of personality associated with it that he guides the "young Lutheran" towards a musical choice. This has nothing to do with religion and everything to do with a love of music and a guide to a better appreciation of it.

About the Author GARRISON KEILLOR is Americas favorite storyteller. For more than 35 years, as the host of A Prairie Home Companion, he has captivated millions of listeners with his weekly News from Lake Wobegon monologues. A Prairie Home Companion is heard on hundreds of public radio stations, as well as America One, the Armed Forces Networks, Sirius Satellite Radio, and via a live audio webcast. Keillor is also the author of several books and a frequent contributor to national publications including Time, The New Yorker, and National Geographic, in addition to writing his own syndicated column. He has been awarded a National Humanities Medal from the National Endowment of the Humanities. When not touring, he resides in St. Paul, Minnesota.
